The Aged.

BY DORAH LYNCH.

Oh, pass ye by the aged
With gentle step and slow;
They have the burden of years to bear,
And the tide of life is low.
Speak kindly as ye greet them,
For their world is dim and cold,
And a beaming look from a youthful heart
Is the sunlight of the old.

And commune with the aged;
Ask them of days gone by;
You know not what a store they have
Of horded memory;
Of hopes that like the rainbow shone,
Only to fade in tears;
And love and sorrow, change and death,
Bind their long scroll of years.

And learn ye from the aged
How with a tranquil eye
They look back on life's stormy sea
And all is vanity;
The hope deferred, the dark despair,
The daily toil and strife,
They are buried all in the waves of time;
Of the aged ask of life!

And pray ye for the aged;
With tottering steps they stand
Upon the very borders
Of the Everlasting Land.
Ask for them strength in weakness,
And Faith's supporting rod;
And through Death's cold dark water
The strong right arm of God.

Selected Story.

The Secret Benefactor.

BY MRS. LOVERING.

'Have you attended to the business I spoke of particularly, yesterday?' asked Mr. Lambert, a wealthy owner of real estate, addressing an intelligent, fair looking young man, who sat at a desk, as the above named gentleman entered his office.

Charles Burchard colored with embarrassment. For a moment his hand moved pervously across his brow, then raising his eyes to his employers face, he answered in a frank steady tone—

'I have neglected to follow your instructions, in this case.'

'Sir.'

'I am sorry—'

'Sorry! cried Mr. Lambert, angrily, 'sorry indeed! and this is the way you attend to my affairs! Young man, if you think I will pass over these careless—'

'I beg your pardon,' said Charles, with a face like marble, but speaking in a clear tone, 'I am guilty of no carelessness. I have endeavored to do my duty—'

'Your duty was to follow my instructions Number twenty-three has been a losing business for me long enough. The family have had warning. You could not have missunderstood me. I told you if the rent was not paid before twelve o'clock yesterday—'

'I visited the famiiy,' rejoined Charles 'and it seemed to me that had you seen what I saw, you would not have had me apply the extremity of the law to their miserable case. They are very poor—they are sick—they are suffering."

'Charles Burchard,' exclaimed Mr. Lambert, angrily, 'you have been in my employ two years, I have found you faithful, honest, capable—and I would not willingly part with you; but since you prefer your way of doing business to mine, and presume to dictate, it is not proper that we should work together any longer.'

'I have thought myself said Charles, 'that since I cannot conscientiously pursue the extremes you deem necessary, it will be better for me to quit your service. 'I am ready,' he added, fixing his mild eye upon Mr. Lambert's face, 'I am ready to go.'

'Well, sir, we will have a settlement at once. How much am I indebted to you? What is your due?'

'Nothing.'

'Nothing? How—how is this?'

'You will see. Cast your eyes over this page.'

'Yes—I perceive—you have taken up your wages, as soon as due,' said Mr. Lambert, who, remembering his clerk's fidelity and capacity, was becoming softened. 'This is a new thing, however. But I presume you have invested your money advantageously?'

'I have tried to make a christian use of it,' answered Charles coldly.

'Have you been dealing in stocks?'

'No, sir.'

'Ah, you have lost confidence in me, and thought proper to put your money into other hands?'

'I have neither made investments nor loans,' said Charles, with a peculiar smile. 'What small sums I could command, I have used.'

'You?'

"Yes, sir.'

'Bless me, Charles! I thought you a steady young man; and how you can have consumed your entire salary, I am unable to conceive.'

'And I presume I should be unable to explain it to your satisfaction sir. It is a subject which it cannot avail anything to converse upon. If you get a man in my place immediately, I should be willing to save you the trouble of instructing him in the state of your business.'

'Certainly—if you please—and you shall be paid—'

'I did not make the offer, expecting remuneration. I trust that I have kept my accounts in such a manner that it will not require half an hour to make an intelligent man understand the intire business.'

'Charles,' exclaimed Mr. Lambert, "I dislike to part with you so. We have always agreed until this time.'

'Six months ago,' replied Charles Burchard, "this family in No. 23 could not pay their rent. I had orders to turn them into the street. I did not do it"

'But—but the rent was paid.'

'You permitted me to give them a few days grace; you permitted this, on my promised to see that the rent was paid. You are right, sir—it was paid; the next quarter's rent was also paid. At present, they cannot pay. Knowing the condition of the family, I cannot follow your instructions."

'Well,' said Mr. Lambert, hardening himself "I have rules in regard to my tenants, which cannot be broken. I have rules in regard to persons in my employ which nothing can induce me to break. Justice is my motto, It is a good one; I shall stand by it.'

'Mercy is a better one, sometimes,' replied Charles, softly. 'Justice is admirable in all—but mercy in the powerful is god like.'

Thus Mr. Lambert parted with his faithful clerk. Another took the place of Charles Burchard, and the latter was without a situation.

About the first business Mr. Carroll, the new clerk, attended to concerned the poor family in No 23.

'They vacate the premises immediately,' he said to Mr. Lambert. 'But there is some mystery about that family, they made allusions to yourself, which I was unable to understand.'

'To me?'

'Yes, sir; they spoke of your kindness to them—'

'My kindness?'

Mr. Lambert colored.

'And do they know it?' cried Charles.

'Why should they not? Why did you not act openly with them?'

'I had no thought that you would be injured by being suspected of helping them, and I had my reasons for not wishing to be known as the author of the benefits,' said Charles, blushing.

'I demand your reasons.',

'The truth is, if I must confess it, I—I hope some day to marry Mary Ward—'

'Ah!'

'She is a worthy girl, sir—'

'But this is no reason!' exclaimed Mr. Lambert.

'Well, then, you must know, sir, had I advanced money to the family openly,' said Charles recovering his self-possession and his face beaming with frankness, 'there was a possibility that I might be suspected of unworthy motives. And again, even had it been otherwise and I could have won Miss Ward, as I would have wished to win her she might have loved me more from a sense of gratitude than for myself; and would have bought her love. As it is I hope she loves me for what I am, and that she will accept my hand, when I am in a positions to support a wife.'

'Charles,' said Mr. Lambert, pressing the young man's hand. 'I honor you! You have acted nobly. Return to your situation; you shall have the entire control of my business; your salary shall be doubled—'

'But Mr. Carrol—'

'He is not permanently engaged. I will produce a place for him. Charles, you must come back! I confess I have acted wrong in this matter. To tell you a secret, Charles Mrs. Ward is my own sister!'

'Your sister!'

"I do not wonder at your astonishment but it cannot equal mine, when I learned the fact this morning. I disclaimed all connection with her twenty years ago, because she refused to marry a man who was my friend. I was unjust. Afterwards she married Mr. Ward, of whom I knew nothing. She supposed, however, that I might have learned the facts; and all the favors they have received from you have thus been accredited to me. But it shall all be made right. I thank Heaven that I have now an opportunity to atone for my injustice to an only sister, and to thank you for the lesson in humanity you have taught me. Wealthy as I am I shall never distress a tenant for rents, without ascertaining whether he is deserving of any favors.'

Mr. Lambert was not permitted to do all the good he proposed to his sister's family. In a few days, Mr. Ward's patent was decreed, and his fortune made. Thanks to his noble invention, his family was raised to affluence; but Mrs. Ward did not disdain the kindness of her restored brother.

Mr. Lambert lost no time in acquainting his relatives with the nature of their indebtedness to Charles Burchard. If they esteemed and loved this generous hearted young man before, what was now their admiration of his noble qualities! None, however, felt their influence like Miss Ward. The only way in which she could express her joy, gratitude and love was, by becoming his wife, with a drowry which relieved him of the care of providing for the comforts of life. Prosperous in business, happy in his domestic relations, Charles Burchard often had occasion to look back with a smile to the time when he left the service of Mr. Lambert 'for conscience sake.'

Miscellaneous.

Humors of Finance.

There is a nice plan suggested by Dr. Bacon in the Christian Union for the financial philosophers who, like Judge Campbell, of La Salle, Ill., maintain that Congress has power to inject any quantity of value into anything whatever by a simple be-it-enacted. Dr. Bacon proposes that Congress pass a law declaring that the copper cent shall have the value of one dollar; that the nickle five-cent coin shall be worth five dollars; that the ten-cent silver coin shall be worth ten dollars; that the silver dollar shall be worth a hundred dollars, and so on. This scheme presents a double advantage. It would enable the inflationists to pay a hundred dollars of debt with one dollar in value, and it would remove their only serious objections to specie payments. Besides this, it would enable the government to pay off the public debt with wonderful ease and rapidity, and without the slightest taint of repudiation. Of course, if Congress can make a copper cent worth a dollar by simple statute, there can be nothing dishonorable in doing so, and paying off the debt in ten-dollars instead of hundred-cent dollars.

General Grant on Cruelty to Animals.

In 1864, at City Point, Va., the General of the Army strolled along the wharf, smoking his cigar. One day, seeing a big, raw boned teamster belaboring one of his wheel mules with a billit of wood, and cursing him roundly, he quietly said, "My man, stop beating that mule." Rawny, looking around at the unostentatious appearing person in a plain blouse—"Say, be you driving these here mules, or be I?" and bat, crack, again went the cudgel, the mule dodging and jumping the tongue. "Well," said the General, "I think I have sufficient authority here to stop your cruelty to animals;" and, turning to the officer in charge of the train, he ordered him to have the teamster "tied up" for twenty-four hours, when he returned to camp, and report the fact to his headquarters when done. The news spread rapidly from camp to camp, and there was much less mule mauling after that.

A Kentucky farmer refused to look at a sample sewing machine recently, as he always "sewed wheat by hand." He is related to the man who did not want a thrashing machine on his farm, "for," said he, "give me a harness tug or a barrel stave, and I can make my family toe the mark according to the law and the Scriptur."

A Woman's Aspirations.

On the 9th inst. the Alumni of Rutgers College, Fifth avenue and Forty-second street, introduced Miss Cozzins as the orator of the evening in the series of lectures and concerts. They are trying by these means and by subscription to raise $10,000 to relieve Alma Mater from liabilities incurred years ago. The tickets of admission being one dollar, a very select audience assembled in the little hall of the College. Members of the school were the ushers.

Phœbe Cozzins, a Bachelor of Laws, appeared in black to lecture on the higher education of women.

Gentlemen and ladies, said she: Is it best for the race that ignorant and uneducated women should be its mothers? We can no longer retain the lily's passive position in the world's great field of action. One hundred and fifty years ago a Massachusetts school Master was publicly reprimanded and dismissed for teaching women arithmetic; and to day when she knocks at the doors of Columbia and Harvard, the answer comes back in virile baritone, no. It is but a little while since the prevailing idea of a literary woman was that she wore blue stockings, with shoes down at the heels, her husband shirt buttonless, and her neglected household running wild. Yet the literary woman keeps unswervingly onward, and is beginning to occupy her share of the seats in the intellectual kingdom. These same colleges receive all male candidates, be they bright or barely able to wedge in "so is right, the door to learning stands open. It really is not strange that women do not rise faster, when we consider what disadvantages they have to struggle against in dress, which entangles their feet, and burdens their brains with rats, mice, and hairpins. The State of New York has spent sixteen millions of dollars for the education of men and not one for that of women. As in New York State, so in all the States and in all the world. A girl steps forth from a boarding school to wait for a husband, like an oyster waiting for the tide, but not like an oyster, sure of what she waits for.

JUST WHAT AILED DIOGINESE.

An old gentleman met Miss Cozzins on a railroad near St. Louis and said: "I wish you would give up this foolish notion of running about to lecture, and settle down, have a husband, and be a good housekeeper." Miss Cozzins, replied, "Bark's is willing, but where's your man?" Women must marry. Her sphere is the kitchen and cradle, the cook book and Baxter's Saint's Rest. That is the traditional and still accepted notion of woman's duty and woman's place. Miss Cozzins longed for the divine word to be spoken that shall reach this dead and burried woman and bring her out. It is not all of life to get married, nor all of death to remain single. The lives of most women are like subterrenean rivers, chafing their chanels of stone with unheard murmers.

The lecturer called upon the theologians among her hearers to deny that it had been woman's duty to obey their husbands ever since the plucky perversed wife, the womanly and noble Vashti refused to appear before King Ahasuerus and his court after they had been on a drunken spree for seven days. The first cause of woman's subjugation was her physical weakness. The persons that could fight the longest and fiercest were the nation's rulers. The theory that in woman ignorance was the badge of virtue wrought the downfall of Greece, and will that of America, unless woman is placed side by side in intellectual culture with man. Women have to struggle their way into every department of intellectual and artistic work. Man has had all the advantages to help him, and woman all the disadvantages to hinder her. Miss Cozzins advised her young hearers of the Rutgers College if the right man came to accept his hand with dignity, but if not to man the bark of life with courage, and sail with God the seas.

A Young Hero.

On Sunday last a gentleman by the name of Barns, living in the lower part of Princess Ann county, about twenty miles below Kempsville, went to church with his wife, leaving the house in charge of his two little sons, one aged eight and the other five years. A short time after Mr. Barnes had left the house a negro man who had met him in the road, went to the house and asked for him. The boys told him that their father had gone out for a ride, but would soon be home. He then said that as there was nobody at home but them he would help himself to the chickens. He was warned not to do it, but persisted and entered the hen-house. The older boy, assisted by his brother, took down his father's gun, and finding it empty loaded it with powder and two charges of shot, when resting it upon the back of a chair, aimed at the hen-house door and waited until the negro came out. When he did so, the boy discharged the gun, severely wounding the thief, who limped off, leaving the chickens behind. He was caught next day, not having reached his home from the severity of his injuries. That little boy will do to trust in guarding property.—Norfolk Virginian.

An Iowa school teacher has been discharged for the very excusable offence of kissing a female assistant. We should like to know what inducement there is for any person to exile himself to the country districts of Iowa to direct the young idea in its musket practice if he is to be denied the ordinary luxury of every day life? If a platonic exercise in osculation, occasionly, cannot be connived at, where are the mitigating circumstances in the dreary life of a Western schoolmaster?

A stingy man who pretended to be very fond of his horse, but kept him nearly starved, said to a friend, "You don't know how much we all think of that horse. I shall have him stuffed, so as to preserve him, when he dies." "You'd better stuff him now," retorted the friend,

IS THERE NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN?

Those who are familiar with the Arts and their history must be struck with the frequency with which old devices are brought forward and announced as novelties, and this too, by our most enterprising and ably conducted journalists. Looking over a recent number of the New York Tribune, in the column announcing new industrial discoveries and inventions we find that fully half the items are descriptions of devices which are so old that it would be difficult to tell when they were first introduced. Thus the first paragraph tells us that in order to make a perfect bend in lead and copper tubes cold, and in glass tubes when softened by heat, it is well to fill them with fine dry sand! We would like to see a work on glass blowing so old that it does not contain this. The second is quite as bad: In it we are told that at the Vienna Exposition were shown small sticks of variously colored sealing wax, tipped with an inflammable compound, which, when ignited by friction, burns and fuses the wax, permitting it to be used very conveniently, without waisting or dropping, as is usually the case. This device is older than even the common lucifer match, made with phosphorus! It was adopted by the manufacturers of the old Prometheans.

And yet, after all, we believe that there are some "new things under the sun," though they are not quite so plenty as to enable us to fill each week a column with a brief account of them.

THE EUCALYPTUS TREE.

The Eucalyptus is still attracting attention. We have distributed a considerable amount of the seed to different parties in Eastern North Carolina, and we hope to have a report from each. As an item of interest respecting this wonderful tree we publish the following extract.

About four years ago Gen. Stratton, the Surveyor General of California, planted two large groves of these trees near the town of Hayward, covering in all about one hundred and fifty acres, and to-day he is owner of 130,000 trees big and little, some of them measuring fifty feet in height and a foot in diameter. When the Surveyor General was setting them out, the people of the neighborhood laughed at the notion of his living long enough to derive any benefit from his expenditure, but the timber is exceedingly valuable now for fire wood, and in five years more logs upward of two feet in diameter can be got out for manufacturing purposes. When seasoned the wood resembles hickory being very hard and solid, and when used for fuel it gives out a heat almost equal to coal, and deposits a cinder that will keep hot an extraordinary long time. At a time when the energies of the agricultural portion of the people are too generally devoted to the destruction of "the forest primeval," this attempt to grow trees where nature has withheld them deserves the imitation of landowners and the attention of everybody.

THE VOLCANIC SCARE OF THIS STATE.

The people of McDowell county in the Western part of this State are greatly alarmed because of the startling discovery of the commencement of an astounding physical convulsion. "Bald Mountain," one of the peaks of the Blue Ridge range, is in a State of volcanic eruption. This mountain is between Crooked Creek and Broad River, in McDowell county. The mountain extends into Rutherford county, and is usually called Stone Mountain. The people within twenty-five miles have been alarmed by a quivering of the earth and sounds like artillery. All attribute the phenonena to Bald Mountain. Some fifty dwellers upon the slopes of the Mountain say it seemed as though the mountain was giving way. The cattle have become alarmed and have left their usual ranges. The people gathered in one locality and were frightened into prayer. Preachers of various denominations were present. It is stated that an acre of the peak sunk and smoke issued.

GOOD ADVICE.

The following sensible article from the Wilmington Post is to the point. It is good advice and ought to be heeded and adopted:

"Care should be taken that Republican candidates have the qualifications which will commend them to the support of all. Let the fight be a square one on principles only. Let us compare what we have done for our country, with what the Democrats have done. Let us compare our promises for the future with theirs; and let us offer men who are known for virtue and intelligence, and the victory will be ours."

Intelligence of a shocking calamity in the Mediterranean has been received. The steamship Laconia, while on a voyage from Alexandria, Egypt, for Algiers, having as passengers 278 pilgrims returning from Mecca encountered terrific gales. One huge wave which struck the vessel, washed overboard from her deck 117 of the pilgrims, and all were drowned.

CORRESPONDENCE

An Educational Movement in Edenton.

EDENTON, N. C., March 18th 1874.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

At a meeting called for the 17th day of March, and held last evening in the Court House for the purpose of united effort on the part of the parents, and people generally of this Township, to establish in Edenton a graded High Public School; Will P. Skinner, Esq., was called to the Chair and F. W. Bond appointed Secretary.

Mr. Aug. M. Moore having been called on, made an interesting, neat little speech replete with stern facts, detailing the advantages to be gained by and the great necessity of establishing in this place a graded High Public School, which would not only be a blessing to this people, but an ornament to the town. He was followed by Messrs Geo. R. Richardson, late of New York, John H. Garrett and W. R. Haughton in appropriate remarks.

On motion a Committee of five, composed of Messrs. A. M. Moore, Jno. H. Garrett, W. D. Pruden, T. C. Spruill and F. W. Bond, was appointed to solicit subscriptions sufficient to meet the requirements of the Peabody donation, and to report their action to an adjourned meeting to be held in the Court House Thursday evening, 16th of April.

On motion a Committee of three composed of Messrs. Geo. R. Richardson Henry DeB. Hooper and W. R. Haughton, was appointed to invite some gentleman to deliver an address on the subject of Education and Geo. Peabody, on Thursday afternoon, 13th of April; and, that the ladies of this section, and persons generally interested in the subject of Education be invited to attend.

On motion the thanks of the meeting were tendered the Chairman and Secretary.

On motion the Editor of the Elizabeth City NORTH CAROLINIAN was requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting. Adjourned.

W. R. SKINNER, Chm'n.
F. W. BOND, Sect'y.

There has been a great change within six months past in the sentiments of the people of this county on the subject of Education. A much greater interest is manifested than ever before. There are now fifteen Schools in operation in the good old county of Chowan with an average attendance of about seven hundred and fifty. School houses are to be seen in almost every pretty grove and the bright little boys and girls collect in joyous groups in every pleasant spot around the school houses. Our people have aroused and thrown off the garb of apathy, and seem determined that Chowan shall be among the first, if not first, in educating the youths of the county. We can and we intend to establish at our old seat of learning, the Academy of Edenton, a Graded High (Public) School, where the children of this section may receive that instruction which will prepare them for the various pursuits of life. Come to our Educational meeting in April and bring all your friends Yours, B.

The Cemetery.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 21st, 1874.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

We would be glad to say through your paper to the few who have subscribed liberally toward the expense of cleaning the Episcopal Cemetery, that we have received $38 and expended the am't for labor, lumber and otherwise, and it is not yet finished. A few have promised to contribute more to carry on the work. We propose to commence the work again on Monday, the 30th. If any wish to aid by sending laborers, we will be very glad, if not, please send money to pay laborers and the work will be done. A committee of gentlemen are appointed to visit the ground and say what the salary of the Sexton shall be, they will be furnished a list of the names of Lot-holders, and each is expected to pay a small amount monthly, to compensate the Sexton for keeping the same in good order. The committee is as follows:

Dr. P. John, Messrs. W. W. Griffin, Frank Vaughan, C. C. Green, Dr. R. K. Speed and Col. W. F. Martin.

Very respectfully,
Mrs. H. S. GREEN, Treas,
Mrs. Dr. R. K. SPEED,
Miss EMMA SPEED,
Committee.

Items From Hertford.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

Our townsmen were somewhat surprised this morning by the opening of a new Grocery store by R. B. Cox. We predict for Mr. Cox success, as his experience as a merchant, his affability of manners and fair dealing will be sure to command a liberal patronage. The other merchants here will leave for the North to purchase their Spring stocks about the 1st prox.

The "Dixie Grange," No. 249, has been fully organized and has advertised its readiness to receive applicants for membership. Mr. F. Barrow is the Secty.

New boarders are continually coming to Wilson's Hotel. The proprietor exerts himself to please his customers and enjoy the credit of giving them entire satisfaction. His charges are so moderate and well suited to the times, that our people ought to encourage him with their hearty support to remain where he is. He is surely "the right man in the right place."

We understand that Rev. T. M. N. Simpson, of Harrellsville who resided in this town until November last, lost all of his wearing apparel and his whole library, by the burning of the dwelling of Mr. Horatio Hays, with whom he boarded, a few days ago.

The health of Mr. A. R. Elliott is by no means improving.

Dr. B. F. Lamb makes a flying visit to Indiana to attend to matters of business.

It is reported that Dr. John A. Small to whom allusion was made in your last issue, intends to locate here in a very few days. EGO.

Hertford, N. C., Mar. 21, 1874.

From Washington.

In the United States Senate sundry petitions in favor of increasing the value of the currency were presented. A resolution was adopted calling upon the Secretary of the Interior to furnish Congress with a statement showing the number of Indians killed or taken captive during 1873, and the first six months of 1874, and the number of white persons killed or taken captive during the same period; the report to be made at the next session of Congress. The Army Appropriation bill was taken up and an important amendment adopted. As the bill came from the House it provided that all the claims for army supplies now pending before the Quartermaster General or the Commissary General should be transferred to the Commissioner of Claims. The Senate lopped off this provision, leaving the settlement of claims as now provided by law.

In the House of Representatives the Transportation bill was further discussed. A bill was introduced to repeal so much of the act organizing the army of the United States as discriminates against colored citizens. A bill was reported from the Military Committee for the reduction of the Army. A good deal of time was taken up in considering the Legislature Appropriation bill.

Diseases of the Blood.

"The Blood is the Life." When this source is corrupted, the painful and sorrow-producing effects are visible in many shapes. The multifarious forms in which it manifests itself, would form subjects upon which I might write volumes. But as all the varied forms of disease which depend upon bad blood are cured, or best treated, by such medicines as take up from this fluid and excrete from the system the noxious elements, it is not of practical importance that I should describe each. For instance, medical authors describe about fifty varieties of skin disease, but as they all require for their cure very similar treatment it is of no practical utility to know just what name to apply to a certain form of skin disease, so you know how best to cure it. Then again I might go on and describe various kinds of scrofulous sores, fever sores, white swellings, enlarged glands, and ulcers of varying appearance; might describe how virulent poison may show itself in various forms of eruptions, ulcers, sore throat, bony tumors, etc.; but as all these various appearing manifestations of bad blood are cured by a uniform means, I deem such a course unnecessary. Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the great fountain of life, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits vital strength, and soundness of constitution, will all return to us. For this purpose Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are pre-eminently the articles needed. They are warranted to cure Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose Rash or Erysipelas, Ring-Worms, Pimples, Blotches, Spots, Eruptions, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Rough Skin, Scurf, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Fever Sores, White Swellings, Tumors, Old Sores or Swellings, Affections of the Skin, Throat and Bones, and Ulcers of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys and Lungs.

Compulsory Education.

If it is true, as recently stated on good authority, that ten-elevenths of the criminals in this country are illiterates, is it not time that the question of compulsory education should be agitated?

Ask yourself this question: "What would my character now be if I had never learned to read? What would it be if I had been deprived of the counsels, the ideals, the aspirations and hopes that have dropped into my mind from the books and papers and Bible I have read? What would my character be if, besides lacking these, I had been born and reared among the ignorant and vicious?" Is not education one of man's rights? Is not good government bound to protect him in this right as much as it is in any other?

In the three States, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Illinois one tenth of the illiterates are paupers, while only one three-hundredth of those who can read and write are so. Can such facts as this, and that stated above, mean otherwise than that education is one of the essential conditions to both morality and thrift? Morality and thrift never grow in any soil but that of education. They are never possessed by man or woman whose mind has not been led out, by some means or other, from the feebleness of its childhood. There can be neither virtue nor economy without thought, and there can be no thought without something to feed it and exercise it.

Throw aside every philanthropic consideration and still may you not reasonably demand that, if your property is taxed to educate the children of him who has no property, his children shall actually receive the education and enough of it to give them a fair chance of being citizens whom you shall not again be taxed to support, and from whose crimes you shall not be endangered?

What is Farming?

There are two classes of so-called farmers. One of these classes says farming does not pay; the other asserts that it does. This suggests the questions:—What is farming? Who are farmers? Why is there this difference of opinion? If John Johnston or George Geddes, or a score of other men we could name, should assert that farming does not pay, we should be inclined to believe there was something in it! But we never have heard that they ever made such an assertian. Who do take the negative of this question? Are they men who make agriculture a study? Are they men known as model business men and who base their assertion upon incontrovertible facts and figures, realized from the intelligent, economical and yet reliable treatment of soils, crops, live stock &c.? Can the men give us an intelligent definition of farming? We are anxious to be enlightened on this subject. Will not some one who believes farming will not pay give us the grounds of his belief, based upon a clear definition of what he means by farming, with the facts and figures in detail relative to the management of his farm? We are anxious to get at the root of this matter—to know whether the reason farming does not pay certain men is due to the soil, climate, location relative to markets, want of adoption of crops cultivated to the market demand, management, railroads, middlemen, taxes, indolence or ignorance? Who will be the first to tell us what farming is and why it will not pay?

The House Committee on Public Lands have completed a voluminous report on the rapid annihilation of the forest throughout the country, and have submitted it to the House for the purpose of having it printed. Accompanying the report is a bill, which has for its purpose the investigation, scientifically, of the subject, and the ultimate redress of the evils thus created.

WITHIN THE WHOLE RANGE of tonic and alterative medicines known, none is entitled to more consideration than the Peruvian Syrup. In all cases of enfeebled or debilitated constitution it is the very remedy needed. The most positive proof of this can be adduced.

The Vienna Awards.

A great deal of dissatisfaction seems to exist in regard to the prizes awarded at the Vienna Exhibition. In the first place, so many awards have been made that their value is of the lowest grade; indeed, about three out of every five exhibitors (we question if the proportion is not greater) get an award of some kind, these awards being to the general public equal in value, so that firms who have gone to great expense, and even obtained the supposed highest distinction—the "Medal for Progress"—stand no higher in the public estimation than smaller firms who get a "Medal of Merit" This is very unjust and misleads the public without an opportunity of putting them right. We see firms who have obtained the "Medal for Merit," advertising it as the highest award given; and in one or two cases firms who have got "Honorable Mention" call it "Diploma of Merit." That there always will be men ready to take advantage of such opportunities for perpetrating fraud is so well known that greater care should have been exercised. We trust that our own Centennial will not fall into this mistake.

Summary of News.

Why is a man who never lays a wager quite as bad as one who does? Because he is no better.

There are over ten million women in America, and yet Tom Hutton, of Ga., hung himself on account of a girl fifteen years old.

Agassiz wrote a very small hand, having acquired the habit when he had but little paper to use, and his early compositions were written on the backs of letters and envelopes, when he was obliged to put much matter in a very small space.

It is proposed to appeal to Congress to dam the Ohio river. One would imagine that the ejaculations of passangers on board steamers that have been "stuck in the sand," at a low stage of water were sufficient to answer all purposes in that direction.

A girl of the period thus comments on Mormonism: "How absurd.—Four or five wives to one man, when the fact is, each woman in these times ought to have four or five husbands. It would take about that number to support one decently."

Panama is encouraging industry on the bounty system. A law has been passed offering every planter who proves that he has five hundred coffee trees growing, $50 from the treasury, and $100 for every ten quintals of tobacco grown and sold in a foreign market.

"Why is it that so many men are troubled with brain diseases of late?" asked a gentleman. "In this telegraphic, high-pressure age," replied a friend, "there are a great many more things to occupy one's attention than twenty years ago, and the brains ain't any bigger now than they were then."

Much is said of hereditary diseases in these days. Men are proved to live longer who come from a long lived race. But we find no physician so wise as to propose any scheme for prolonging life beyond the keeping of a just balance between its forces.

The man who answered an advertisement to the following effect had his curiosity satisfied: "If you would learn to make home happy send fifty cents in postage stamps to A. B., &c." Upon receipt of postage stamps, A. B. replied, "Your home would be more happy if you were less frequently there."

The Maryland Legislature having made it unlawful for children under sixteen years of age to engage for more than ten hours out of twenty-four in factory labor, the passage of the act was celebrated by a mass meeting of working people at Mount Washington. Several thousand persons were present, manily children.

Mr. George Francis Train is understood to have been so powerfully affected by the wish of Cannon Kingsley that some American might be buried in Westminister Abbey that he has determined to abandon his prospects of the Presidency, never so flattering as now, and go over to London to furnish the requisite corpse. Only a great soul could be capable of such an act.

The word lady is compounded of two Saxon words leay or laf, signifying a loaf of bread, and dian, to give, or to serve. In olden times it was customary for those families whom God had blessed with affluence to give away regularly a portion of bread or other food to poor families in their respective parishes and neighborhoods, and on such occasions the "lady" or mistress of the household distributed the daily or weekly dole. Hence she was called the "laf-dy" or the "bread giver," and it is probably from this hospitable custom that to this day English ladies carve and serve the meat at their own tables.

An effort is now being made in France and Belgium to acclimatize kangaroos with a view of preserving them for hunting. The kangaroos imported some years since for the estate of M. Cornorley near Tours have flourished and increased largely in numbers. The zoological Gardens at Brussels has recently received twenty five pairs of these animals. A kangaroo hunt is said to be rare sport. The giant kangaroo is too expensive for importation, costing from $200 to $240 each. The price of the other varieties however does not exceed $50 a pair.

Fat beeves are sold at Fulton, Texas, for three cents a pound, net, and the largest portion of the cattle are slaughtered there merely for their hide and tallow. The hide is removed in an unique fashion. The animal is knocked down, the skin cut around with a knife, a horse is hitched to the edge of the hide, and in a minute it is whipped off, and the whole carcus is thrown into an immense steam cauldrom. It is boiled into a seething mess, and the fat skimmed off. This is poured into hogsheads, and the bones and flesh are thrown out. About 600 animals are boiled per day at Fulton, meat enough being thus wasted to keep a good portion of New York city supplied.

A shoemaker out West, with a literary turn of mind, has the following poetical gem attached to his shingle:

"Here lives a man who never refuses,
To mend all sorts of boots and shoeses."

The coinage of trade dollars during the month of February was $270,000 at the San Francisco mint, and $135,000 at the Philadelphia mint; total, $405,000: the weight of which is about eleven tons.

Representative Hawley, of the Centennial Commission, was before the Committee of Appropriations at Washington in company with other members of the Commission, and urged upon the committee the claims of the Exposition.

The take of salmon in the first fortnight and three weeks of the present season in England, is described as almost universally large beyond modern precedent, and this is no limited to particular rivers but appears to prevail generally.

Queer notions of prayer some people have. At a meeting in the northern part of Maine, the pastor remarked that if any present had relatives or friends in distant lands, prayer would be offered in their behalf. Then uprose a simple-looking individual and said: "I would like you to pray for my brother. He went away two weeks ago, and I haven't heard from him since. I don't know just where he is, but you needn't pray below Bangor."

A mild and affectionate wife in Lancaster overheard an acquaintance remark that her husband was too fond of Loo. She waited up for him that night, and when he came home demanded to know if he had been spending his time again with Loo. The unsuspecting husband admitted that he had, when, without giving him time to explain, she went for him with a fire shovel. The husband does not exactly remember how the interview ended, but he never could convince his wife that Loo was a game of cards, and always plays euchre now and gets home before ten o'clock.

The Hon. Ossian B. Hart, Governor of Florida, died, after a lingering illness, at his late residence in Jacksonville, on the 18th. Mr. Hart was appointed Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Florida by Gov. Reed in 1868, and held that position until he became Governor in 1873. He was the Republican nominee for the latter office, and received at the election in November, 1872, 17,603 votes, against 16,004 for Bloxham, the Democratic candidate. In his first message he urged the Legislature to improve the Election laws and adopt a sound financial policy. Lieut.-Gov. Marcellus B. Stearns succeeds him by virtue of his office.

Many years ago there lived at Wappinger's Creek on the Hudson a ship carpenter who was troubled to find a proper name for a sloop he had on the stocks. His neighbors quizzed him so much that he at last came to the singular resolve that whatever word any person should say who next past him on the road should be the name by which he would christen his craft. Pretty soon a hugh Dutchess county wagon hove in sight, on the front seat of which were two farmers in eager conversation. "Who would have thought it?" said one to the other, and so the poor little vessel had "Who would have thought it?" of Wappinger's Creek," painted on her, and there are elderly people now living in that vicinity who remember well the strangely named vessel.

PAIN-KILLER!

TIME TESTS THE MERITS OF ALL THINGS.

Thirty Years is certainly long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparelleled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and it needs only to be known to be prized, and its reputation as a Medicine of Great Virtue, is fully and permanently established. It is the great Family Medicine of the age. Taken internally, it cures Dysentery, Cholera, Diarrhoea, Cramp and Pain in the Stomach, Bowell Complaint, Painters' Colic, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Sudden Colds, Sore Throat and Coughs. Taken Externally, it cures Bruises, Boils, Felons, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Old Sores and Sprains, Swellings of the Joints, Toothache, Pain in the Face, Neuralgia and Rheumatism, Chapped Hands, Frost Bitten Feet, &c.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore, it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used on emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agony of pain, or the depressing influences of disease. Such a remedial exists in Perry Davis' "Pain-Killer," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the intolerable and burning suns of the tropics its virtues are known and appreciated. And by it suffering humanity has found relief from many of its ills. The effect of the Pain-Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of Cough, Cold, Bowel Complain, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores and Sprains, Cuts, Stings of Insects, &c., and other causes of suffering has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vgetable Pain-Killer, and take no other.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

Judge ALBERTSON will hold Court in Gates county next week.

Bishop LYMAN preaches in the Episcopal Church to-morrow.

On Friday last an Odd Fellows Lodge was organized at Rose Dale, this county. Its name is "Ehringhause Lodge No. 72."

We are authorized to state that the new and fast sailing Steamer "Astoria" will make two trips a week between Elizabeth City and Nag's Head during the coming season.

Some of the public spirited citizens of Edenton are taking action toward securing better educational facilities. See the published report of the proceedings of a public meeting.

An Edenton correspondent writes us that Messrs FRICK, of Delaware and HANCOCK, of Philadelphia have decided to establish a Ship Yard at that place for the purpose of building Barges for the various Northern canals.

The member of the "Bachelor's Club" who bewailed the loss of his hat in last week's CAROLINIAN has excited the sympathy of "One of the Maidens." She shall have a hearing next week. She will pardon the delay when we inform her that her effusion did not reach us until our outside was made up.

The following new Post Offices have been established in Dare County: Roslanthe, at Chicamacomico, Sparrow M. Pugh, P. M.; Kennekeete, at Kennekeet, D. G. Meekens, P. M.; The Cape, at Cape Hatteras, Pharaoh, Scarburger, P. M.

The three story dwelling of Maj. H. HAYS, of Harrellsville, Hertford county, was destroyed by fire on the 13th. The fire originated from a foul chimney which had not been used for some time taking fire. People ought to be careful and keep their chimneys cleaned out.

The Norfolk papers bring us the announcement of the death of CYRUS WILEY GRANDY Sr., the head of the large and well known Commission house of C. W. GRANDY & Sons. Mr. GRANDY was a native of this State, having been born in Camden County. At one time he resided in this city, but for many years has been a citizen of Norfolk. He was in the 66th year of his age. He was an uncle of our townsman C. W. GRANDY Jr.

Our 'amiable cotemporary of the Washington Express gets his "dander up." Emptying the phials of his wrath and wringing his satire when any body innocently employs the adjective little in speaking of his town. As he is sensitive upon the subject we'll promise to try not to wound his feelings hereafter. As for the size of the village we cannot speak from personal knowledge, but that it contains some big hearted people we are abundantly satisfied. There brother BOGARTE is this satisfactory?

In reply to several inquiries made us respecting Solicitor and Judge we answer that there should be no opposition in the nominating Conventions to the present incumbents, and we believe there will be none. They are both gentlemen of fine ability, high character and unimpeachable integrity. They have both performed the duties of their offices with great credit and satisfaction to the people. They should be renominated without opposition and we believe they will be re-elected by handsome majorities. As a Solicitor Mr. BAGLEY is making a fine reputation, and as a Judge no man stands higher in the State than Hon. J. W. ALBERTSON.

The Executive Committee of the State Board of Immigration held a meeting in Raleigh last week and appointed a number of gentlemen from different counties as Agents of the Board for the collection of facts, etc., for the pamphlet which the Board propose publishing in regard to the numerous advantages our State offers to the industrious Immigrant. Among the number we notice the following in this part of the State: Dr. P. JOHN, Pasquotank; J. R. DARDEN, Perquimans; W. B. SHAW, Currituck; W. A. MOORE, Gates; JAMES SHARPE, Hertford; Dr. E. RANSOM, Tyrrell; D. C. GAYTHER, Washington; ISAIAH RESPASS, Beaufort, and G. MILLER, Bertie.

A subscriber—one who has manifested an interest in our newspaper enterprise—writes us that he is out of humor. He lives in one of the lower Sound counties and is only supplied with a mail once a week. He says:

"I take three papers, the NORTH CAROLINIAN and two city papers. The latter I get regularly, but your paper, the one I care most about, hardly reaches me one time in five—and then mostly three or four together. Now what riles me is the papers I care least about are always at the office while the very one I am most anxious to see is' first read by somebody else. I feel that I could knock a chip off the villain's shoulder—if he would give me a chance—that tampers with my NORTH CAROLINIAN!

As we mail the paper regularly, and as our patron appreciates it, thus proving himself to be a gentleman of good taste, we'd like to aid him in ferreting out the "villain" complained of. All such larceny ought to be exposed and punished.

The increasing trade of Elizabeth City is attracting attention. Transportation companies are preparing to compete for it. In addition to a regular line of Steamers—the "Louisa" and the "Commerce"—once a week from Baltimore, the Pioneer Transportation Company are effecting arrangements to have their Steamers "L. G. Cannon," "Astoria" and "M. E. Roberts" pass here regularly on their trips from Norfolk. It is proposed to have a Boat leave Norfolk every evening at 6, P. M. arriving here every morning, and leaving here every evening at 6 P. M. arriving at Norfolk the next morning. They are to begin some time in the latter part of April. These boats are elegantly fitted up with State Rooms and the modern conveniences. With this arrangement the traveling public will have two daily boats, one in the morning and the other in the evening, between Elizabeth City and Norfolk. Having long agitated increased transportation facilities for this section, the NORTH CAROLINIAN hails these enterprises with more than ordinary satisfaction. The prospects of our town and county are continuing to grow brighter and brighter.

LOCAL BRIEFS.—The Editor is absent this week. He will return on Friday or Saturday.—J. A. Manifestations of this sort are always duly appreciated.—Some of our townsmen are talking earnestly about a Cotton Factory. One would pay here.—New houses are going up in different parts of the city. But for the panic and the crop failure we would have lively times here now. Vegetation is growing rapidly.

A Western paper says that the way to kill off the poets who offer to write pieces gratitously is to accept their efforts, hand them to the worst compositor and let the proof-reader correct them according to his own ideas of prosody. This is warranted to destroy the strongest poetical fever in three weeks.

"Brother Beecher," says the venerable Dr. Bacon, laying his hand on the great preacher's shoulder, "Brother Beecher, I fear the devil whispered in your ear just now, that this was a very fine lecture." "O, no," replied Mr. Beecher, "he left that for you to do."

The Cincinnati Enquirer offers to bet five hundred dollars that no fashionable lady ever goes to bed without first looking into the glass, and a rival is willing to risk the same sum that no Cincinnati editor goes to bed without drinking out of his.

The Norfolk Virginian makes the following practical remarks concerning the establishment of cotton mills in the South:

"There can no longer be doubt that the South is awakening to her advantages for the manufacture of cotton Scarcely an exchange comes to us from any point south of the James river but it brings either record of the success met with by cotton factories or report of efforts making for their establishment. The statistics of this industry are daily laid before the country, and contrast made between the 861 factories of the North and the pitiful 83 of the South. The relative rates of labor and the greater profit to be made here than there are dwelt upon, and the magnificent result of Georgia's enterprise in this direction are heralded for all men's information."

The reason why an assembly for dancing is called a ball is now believed to be found in an old German custom, long since obsolete, and from a German paper we make the following extract: "This custom consists in the assembling in the village during the Easter holidays, of all the marriageable maidens in order to present to each new made bride at whose wedding they had danced, a beautiful ornamental ball. When this ball, after being borne on a gaily decorated pole in solemn procession through the village, had been presented to the young bride, she was thereby laid under obligation to furnish free music for the evening to all who might wish to dance. From this festive custom is derived the xpression 'to give a ball.'"

An engine, standing in the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's yard at Altoona, Penn., on the 14th inst, got started some way without any person on it, and ran through the round-houses, across an open space, and into a large machine shop. One man, named Croofman was killed, and another, named Bradley, had his leg taken off, and cannot live.

The director of the mint estimates the present monthly addition to the stock of gold in the country at about two and a half millions of dollars, and the gold product for April, May and June at not less than three millions per month. The coinage for the balance of the fiscal year will therefore be very large.

A beggar posted himself at the door of an English chancery court, and kept saying, "A penny, please sir! Only a penny, sir, before you go in!" "And for what, my man?" inquired an old country gentleman. "Because, sir, the chances are you will not have one when you come out!"

"What would our wives say, if they knew where we are?" said the Captain of a schooner when they were beating about in a deep fog, fearful of going ashore. "Humph, I shouldn't mind that," replied the mate, "if we only knew where we were ourselves."

DEATHS.

DIED.—At his son's residence, at this place on the 24th, inst. GILBERT H. FOWLER, aged 74 years.

THE GREAT ANTAGONIST OF DISEASE.—What is the natural antagonist of disease? It is vital principle. From the moment that disease is developed in the system, this champion fights the intruder until it either conquors or is conquered. Which side should medicinal science espouse in this life and death struggle? Should it depress and cripple the physical energies of the patient, thereby helping the disorder, or should it reinforce the vitality of the patient, thereby assist in quelling the ailment? Of course the proper answer to this question must be obvious to every one above the grade of an idiot or a lunatic, and hence it follows that the weak and broken down invalid who chooses to dose himself with depleting slops, instead of toning, invigorating and vitalizing his enervated frame with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, must be either feeble minded or deranged. Surely nothing short of imbecility or insanity could induce a person laboring under bodily weakness and nervous prostrating, to take day after day powerful doses of some drastic purgative in the hope of gaining strength thereby. Although charlatans may advertise preparations of this character as tonics, people in the full possession of their reason can not, one would think, accept them as such. If they do the penalty of their credulity may be the dyspeptic, the billious, the debilitated and nervous and all who are subject to intermittents, or other diseases brought on by the inclement weather which prevails at this season, will do well to strengthen their nerves, with the Bitters. The two-sold operation of the restorative as an invigorant and an aperient, in addition to its direct and specific effect upon the disordered liver, renders it a most efficient remedy for complaints of the digestive, secretive and excretive organs, at present in use. This fact is confessed by eminent members of the faculty whose testimony to that effect is published in Hostetter's Almanac for 1874.

Th · Object in Applying Manure.

This is a question too little discussed and too frequently ignored by the everyda farmer. Too many work in a some what aimless manner in the application of fertilizers. If a definite object is had in view, there seems to be an indefinite idea how that object is to be attained with a considerable class, and thus they work less understandingly, and oftentimes to a considerable loss in several ways. One man has in view the permanent improvement of the productiveness of his soil, while at the same time he is desirous of immediate returns from the present crop. Another has in view the growing of the largest possible crop, leaving the permanent improvement of the soil as a secondary consideration; and so on to the end of the chapter. The varieties of soil—sandy loam, light sand, clayey loam, or clay, stony, gravelly loam—are differently constituted, and each is better adapted to some special crop than the other; some of them are what we term "light" soils, while others are "medium" or "heavy." Now the cultivator of each of these varying soils wishes to attain a specific object in its culture, and to that end he applies fertilizers and grows a crop which he finds, from experience, that his soil is adapted to. Scarcely any one at all experienced would think that the same object would be attained by applying manure in the same state, in the same manner, to each and all of these varying soils. Local experience and a knowledge of local farming and circumstances always best determines the matter of application of manure, and in the discussion of the subject all these matters should be considered; but my questions remain: What is she object in apply manure? Should we let any other object take precedence of the present crop? One crop is certainly all we are assured of. If we apply manure to plowed and hoed ground, it cannot be done without in some way permanently improving the same, for the aration causes the manure and soil to act chemically, producting the improvement.

W. H. White.

Roots as Manure.

It has been found that the roots of a good crop of red clover left in an acre of land after the removal of the crop weigh 7,580 pounds, or from three to three and a half tons. The same examination gave the weight of an acre of rye roots at 3,400 pounds. A similar experiment gave the weight of the roots of alfalfa from an acre at over five tons.) All of this matter is, of course, valuable for the use of such crops as may be grown during or after its decomposition. The well-known superiority of clover as a manuring crop, however, is not due alone to the great amount of organic matter, taken mainly from the atmosphere, which the roots supply, but also to the position in which this matter is deposited.

The roots reach deeply into the soil, and on their decomposition they serve to draw moisture from the lower soil, and by the decomposition of fertilizers matter to a considerable depth, they induce the descent of the roots and crops to a point where they are much more sure of a supply of moisture during the dry seasons than they could be if near the surface. Then again these deeply penetrating roots traverse parts of the subsoil not heretofore open to vegetation, and in there decomposition they produce a chemical effect on the ignorganic substances that lie along their courses, and help to render them, too, serviceable for future crops.—American Agriculturist.

Farmers' Sons.

At a meeting of the New York State Agricultural Society, Gen. Patrick made the following remarks in regard to the growing aversion among farmers' sons to farm work:

"Only a few of our children are following in our footsteps. The old folks are left alone. With failing health and increasing years many are compelled to sell out the homestead and live in a village where it is possible to live alone. Our young men are showing a great aversion to honest toil. Often, if they remain on the farm, they are interested in fast horses than in training steers. Others engage in trifling, undignified occupation, such as selling maps, books, patent rights, or even clothes pins. They are attracted by genteel ways and habits. At the best they seek commercial adventures, and through this means sudden and great riches. Can they not read their fate by the wrecks of thousands in the city of New York who have attempted the same thing. For ablebodied, strong young men to quit the farm and engage in such trifling pursuits as have been named, or to attempt, where thousands fail, in a city occupation, they should be ashamed. When labor in any country is considered dishonorable, the doom of that nation is sealed. Until the idea prevails that labor is honorable there can be no bright hope before us. When we find a country divided into small estates, and each proprietor labors with his own hands, we have a happy people. Under small homesteads grew up those people before which the world trembled when they buckled on their swords—the ancient Romans. Look at the large plantations of the south, with their degraded laborers and you need not ask the result. Countries are cultivated, not according to their fertility, but according to their liberty. Agriculture is the basis of the happiness of a state, and it is the most honorable as well as the most ancient of all professions."

Doing One's Best.

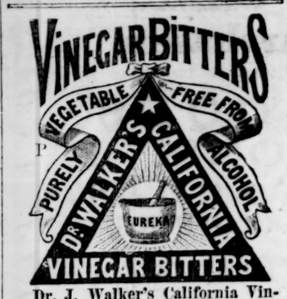
A statuary, who was at work forming a figure out of a faulty block of marble, was called to account by a neighbor of, his, who told him that it was absolutely impossible to make a perfect figure out of such imperfect materials. "All this is very true," replied the statuary; "but this block of marble, such as it is, was sent to me to be cut into a statue; and as I cannot make it better, I must content myself in forming the best figure out of it that I can."

"What a pity it is," said a grazier to a young farmer who had just entered on a little farm, "that that pasture of yours is so overrun with thistles!" "It is a pity," was the reply of the farmer, "but if I fret myself ever so much, it will not root the thistles out of the ground; so I will try whether labor and good management will not put it into better order."

A nurseryman about to plant a number of young saplings, some straight and some crooked, thus reasoned with himself: "These straight saplings will no doubt grow up to be fine trees, without much attention on my part; but I will see if, by proper training, I cannot make something of the crooked ones also. There will be more trouble with them, no doubt, than with the others, but for that very reason I shall be the better satisfied should I succeed."

Somebody has stolen A dironback Murray's "Civilized Heathen," which was a lecture in manuscript.

MISCELLANEOUS.



Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of Vinegar Bitters?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use Vinegar Bitters as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants in every form.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Grateful Thousands proclaim Vinegar Bitters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Jaundice.—In all cases of jaundice, rest assured that your liver is not doing its work. The only sensible treatment is to promote the secretion of the bile and favor its removal. For this purpose use Vinegar Bitters.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

A railroad will soon be built to Norfolk, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1874—SEVENTH YEAR.

THE ALDINE.

An illustrated Mouthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the world. A Lepresentative and Champion of American Taste,

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

The Aldine, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscelany of pure; light and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures; the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeedsng number affords fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the Aldine will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While uther publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with a similar class, The Aldine is an unique and original codception—alone and unapproached—absolutely wifhont competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quality of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost and then, there are the chromo besides.

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.

The illustrations of The Aldine have won a world wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact teat its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facilities of production. The wood-cuts of The Aldine, possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the aetist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which The Aldine is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, The Aldine will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to The Aldine will, at the trifling cost, enjoy in his own home, the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Morgan and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractiveness any of its predecessors.

Premium for 1874.

Every subscriber to The Aldine for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of The Aldine, by Thos. Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view of the White Mountains New Hampshire; the other gives the Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming, Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12 x 16) and appearance exact the similies of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of The Aldine was a bold but pecutiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonal, over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1873.

Messrs. James Sutton & Co.

Gentlemen:—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful repreeantations by mechanical process of the original paintings.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American Art Journal. If no better because of all this, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire and neither are they a worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription of The Aldine. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprize that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preferance for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14 x 20 inches representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromo free.

For 50 cents extra the chromos will be sent mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

The Aldine will, hereafter, be obtained only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriditions most be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the facsimile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

THE SUN.

WEEKLY, SEMI-WEEKLY, AND DAILY

THE WEEKLY SUN is too widely known to require any extended recomendation; but the reasons which have already given it fifty thousand subscribers, and which will, we hope, give it many thousand more, are briefly as follows:

It is a first-rate newspaper. All the news of the day will be found in it, condensed when unimpotant, at full length when of moment, and always presented in a clear, intelligible, and interesting manner.

It is a first-rate famil paper, full of entertaining and instructive reading of every kind, but containing nothing that can offend the most delicate and scrupulous taste.

It is story paper. The best tails and romances of current litereture are carefuly selected and legibly printed in its pages.

It is a first agricultural paper. The most fresh and instructive articles on agricultural topics regularly appear in this department.

It is an independent political paper, belonging to no partie and waring no collar. It fights for principle, and for the election of the best men to office. It especially devotes its energies to the exposure of the great corruptions that now weaken and disgrace our country, and threaten to undermine repnblican institutions altogether. It has no fear of knaves, and asks no favors from their supporters.

It reports the fashions for the ladies and the markets for the men, especially the cattle-markets, to which it pays particular attention.

Finally, it is the cheapest paper published. One dollar a year will secure it for and subscriber. It is not necessary to get up a club in order to have the weekly sun at this rate. Any one who sends a single dollar will get the paper for one year.

We have no travelling agents.

THE GREAT BALOON.

You've heard about the great balloon,
In which Professor Wise
Proposed to go to Europe,
By sailing through the skies,
He proposed to show the people
A quicker way for trips
Than ever had been known before,
By sailing o'er in ships.

Well everything seemed lovely
Upon that Autumn day,
When they began to pump in gas
To bear the barge away.
They pumped and pumped with all their power,
And things seemed nigh adjusted—
When there came an awful crash,
And the mighth bubble busted.

It's ever thus in human life,
Go whereso'er we may,
The darkest night will oft succeed
The brightest, sunniest day.
There are exceptions to this rule,
Where all the days are fair,—
For one, go down to Johnson's Hall,
You'll find things all right there.

We've thought it best in cases like this,
This little fact to mention;
You need not ferr that they'll inflate
Beyond their power of retention.
And when they undertake to go
Their geer's so well adjusted,
They'll move straigh forward to their work,
With no fear of being "busted."
